LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

—The walking-match is no more.
—Yesterday was a cool, pleasant day.
—The railroad track on the levee, between Jefferson and Union streets, is open for walking-matches.
—The Petticoat in Memphis, a serial story, is begun in Saturday's issue of the Memphis Free Press.
—San Foster yesterday got three years from the Criminal Court for breaking and entering the home of W. T. Donelson in South Memphis.
—Let north of Vance on Main, west side, 55 by 130 feet, was sold yesterday by Clerk and Master Black for $2000, one-half cash, balance in seven months.
—Mrs. Mary E. Wright, who kept the restaurant on Main, below Madison street, made an assignment yesterday, with liabilities at $2770, to Thomas H. Jackson.
—"Don't mind him, mister, he's allus hotter at some fool or other," remarked a black yesterday to a gentleman who took offense at a persistent shoe-cup.
—The attention of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is directed to the one-horse drays, upon which very frequently four heavy loads of cotton are placed.
—Some one, at the reception given at Mr. Donnell's Wednesday night last, took a large double black shawl, through mistake, and left it there. They will please return it only in a half-dozen days and get their shawl.
—On Friday last a fat, plump, man unknown, entered a saloon in the rear of 238 Crutcher street and took up his quarters there, using a mattress as a blanket, until he was ejected by some children playing upon him.
—Mollie Green yesterday brought suit in the Circuit Court against her husband, Thomas, for a divorce. They were married in 1873, and about two years ago she says he began to strike her with his fists and with sticks, and kicked her out of the house. She claims to have been pregnant at the time, and that he refused to let her see the child. She claims to have been pregnant at the time, and that he refused to let her see the child. She claims to have been pregnant at the time, and that he refused to let her see the child.
